Pennies From Heaven

"Rain" does strange things in New York and here is a view of a crowd awaiting a daily shower of coins, valued at between $7 and $10, which drop from a building on 51st st. between 12:30 and 1 p. m. The shower is already starting, and several persons are scrambling for the "raindrops." No one has been able to figure out who the "rain god" is, but every day since July he has been busy. Who cares, anyway, so long as the heavens are liberal?

Truman Atomic Message Soon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—President Truman will send a message to Congress this week on what he thinks should be done with the atomic bomb secret.

The White House announced today shortly after a House appropriations subcommittee which recently toured U. S. military installations left a nine-point recommendation with the President.

Among recommendations was one that secrets of atomic energy should be kept to ourselves pending study of the development by a commission representing the scientists who directed the project, the joint chiefs of staff, State Department and Congress.

Another point made by the subcommittee, not directly connected with the atomic bomb, was that "the War Department is sustaining a loss of prestige among troops in certain areas abroad because of the apparent lag in the discharge program."

"It is essential" said a memorandum left with the president, "that the demobilization program be expedited."

The House group also concluded that:

1.—Possession of enemy islands in the Pacific should be retained by the United States and "we should never have to take them again."

2.—Allied islands our forces found necessary to occupy should be made the subject of joint study to determine to what extent mutual interest calls for maintenance of bases by lease or occupation on mutually satisfactory terms.

3.—American surplus war stocks in every foreign country should be regarded as a national asset, including lend-lease goods the borrower does not now care to pay for. These stocks should be sold immediately or exchanged for the best values obtainable.

4.—The world-wide networks of airways, landing fields, weather and traffic facilities established during the war should be conserved and private lines encouraged to operate them.

5.—"There is world-wide tendency to regard the United States as a country of unlimited wealth. We should say frankly to every country asking aid that here, as there, wealth is produced only by work."

6.—China offers the largest and most fruitful single field in the world for American foreign trade.

7.—Current appropriations for the War Department should be reviewed and reduced by at least $27,500,000,000.

Bynes' Give-In To Reds Scored

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (INS)—A sharp attack was made in the House today on Secretary of State Byrnes for acceding to a Russian request for Allied participation in determining Japan occupation policies.

"I have great respect for Secretary Byrnes," said Rep. Cox (D. of Georgia), "but this yielding to Commissar Molotov yesterday sickens me. I wonder if we have accepted the domination of Soviet Russia over the rest of the world."

New Strikes Called Over Nation as Several Are Ended

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
A strike of AFL electrical workers shut off hydroelectric power to 16 large Texas towns and 25,000 rural customers today.

In Washington, the CIO oil workers' union announced settlement of strikes at two small Detroit plants and called this a "first break" as conciliation conferences resumed with management in an effort to settle the eight-state oil refinery strike involving more than 36,000 workers.

The Pennsylvania-West Virginia coal mining dispute, in which 35,000 are off the job, remained deadlocked.

Directly involved in the controversy are mine foremen and supervisory employees who organized a branch of the Unaffiliated United Mine Workers of America and demanded collective bargaining.

Another new strike kept 13,000 workers from their posts in five General Motors Corp. Frigidair plants in Dayton, O., where production of refrigerators, halted by the war, was resumed July 25.

Elsewhere the strike picture was:
ENDED—28,000 white collar workers of the Westinghouse of Long Lines Telephone Workers Union will meet tonight to decide whether 450 employees of the Boston office of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. will join a threatened national protest demonstration.

The long-distance workers were aroused by a National Labor Board edict ordering dissolution of the Western Electric Employees Ass'n, a key unit in the federation. The NLRB said the association was dominated by the Western Electric Co.

The national federation has threatened to call a brief nationwide stoppage of long distance calls. Should the Boston unit join the movement, all long distance service in or out of New England would be stopped.

The threat to gas and fuel oil distribution developed with announcement by 300 workers of four major oil companies that they would join in a sympathy strike if the dispute at the Waltham and Cambridge plants of the Shell Oil Co. was not settled within a few days.

William T. Gormley, union secretary, said the threatened strike would halt tanker unloadings and distribution of oil to all Greater Boston communities.

Striking mechanical employees of the Quincy Patriot-Ledger were joined today by seven editorial workers, members of the American Newspaper Guild, who refused to cross picket lines outside the plant. A conference between the strikers and company officials was scheduled for late today in an effort to end the six-day work stoppage.

Elsewhere in Massachusetts the labor picture was brightened by return to work of 400 New Bedford loomfixers and 475 white collar employees of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., at Springfield.

Yanks Seek Jap Millions In Gold Loot

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Oct. 1 (AP)—American occupation authorities today began a quest for untold millions of dollars in gold, silver and currency which Japan was believed to have wrested from the lands it overran in its try for world domination.

The search paralleled other probes into imperialistic war-financing — probes made possible through Gen. MacArthur's bold, secret seizure today of 21 government-controlled financial institutions in Tokyo and six other large cities, and the ousting of their officials.

The Bank of Japan, the nation's largest financial institution, one-quarter owned by the Japanese imperial household, was closed by an order of the Allied command.

It will open tomorrow, said Col. R. P. Kramer, MacArthur's economic and scientific chief, "if the Japanese provide full cooperation" in locating the assets of the seized institutions which had office space in the Bank of Japan building.

Two other banks closed by MacArthur—the Yokohama Specie bank and the Hypotec bank—reopened today with Allied permission after a check of their records.

Allied headquarters said no trace was found in the three institutions of "hard money" removed from the Philippines and the Netherlands East Indies during the Jap occupation.

Some gold and gold stocks earmarked for Siam and Indo-China, and some gold set aside for the Federal Reserve Bank of North China were reported found in the Bank of Japan.

The Japanese denied that the Bank of Japan held any foreign money, denied any knowledge of a possible hiding place, and maintained they had no control over financial activities of field military commanders.

The militarists, the bankers said, had the power to either sell their looted assets and place the money in a special disbursement fund of the finance ministry, or "keep the assets for themselves." Shibusawa declared he knew nothing of reported transfers of gold and currency from the Philippines to Japan.

Jap savagery, as told by Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright—who will begin next Sunday in the Boston Sunday Advertiser and continue daily thereafter in the Boston Evening American.

Wainwright's "This Is My Story," on which he has been working for the past few weeks, was the most sought-after literary prize of World War II. It was obtained for exclusive serialization in this newspaper after spirited bidding by nearly a hundred publishers and services.

The story will run for six weeks, in daily installments, and the War Department has given Gen. Wainwright full permission to write as he wishes, without censorship.

"This Is My Story," by Gen. Wainwright, was chosen by King Features Syndicate after a minor tense drama in which it took place high over New York city in the general's life in the Waldorf Astoria. There, while the city outside was going wild over the returning hero of Bataan, magazines and syndicates fought out the bidding for the story.

The eyes of the nation were on the streets of New York, where Gen. Wainwright was being greeted by the roaring cheers of a Manhattan welcome but the eyes of the newspaper world were on that Waldorf suite. The Wainwright story was a genuine plum, a "scoop" of undreamed-of proportions, and the bidding was reported to have gone into six figures.

At 2 p. m. on Saturday of that historic weekend, an aide of the general picked up a phone. "He's decided," he said, swiftly. "It's King Features—let's go!"

Since that time, Gen. Wainwright has been hard at work on the story. In White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.—where, from his notes and memoirs, he has been setting down the gallant, hair-raising adventures which he and his troops underwent from the time the Japs came storming down toward "The Rock" until American paratroopers dropped from the clouds into his prison camp and rescued him from his living grave.

In addition to describing the REAL story of those gripping happenings in the years of blood, sweat and tears, Gen. Wainwright will disclose for the first time many untold stories of the war—as the burying of millions in American gold in Manila harbor, where the Japanese tried desperately, fruitlessly, to find it.

This correspondent began to get a frustrated feeling while over North Africa after deciding that we are well on the way to establishing the unique all-time record of circumnavigating the globe without seeing anything.

The things seen so far consist mainly of a fine collection of Air Transport Command airports. There has been no time for sight-seeing on this trip.

plane in an hour-long stop.

After refueling at Casablanca, we flew out so fast we never sighted a single Arab.

The Tripoli air base was part of an auto race track built by Mussolini. The grandstand still was visible from the base control tower which was constructed like a native minaret and where the GIs pray that all planes will land safely.

Here the travelers had an excellent breakfast in the transient mess decorated with native murals. The fare included eggs, hot cakes and bacon.

Souvenirs were available and we paused over the PX counter to buy a silver filigree butterfly pin for mother and some native copper trays.

In a day or two the Globester will resemble a gift shop with all the souvenirs aboard.

In the flight across North Africa we flew alternately over the desert and the Mediterranean. Sight of the desert must have been hard up for an empire when he grabbed off that territory.

Flying over the desert where the Nazi Afrika Korps and the British Eighth Army used to chase each other, big tracks made by Field Marshal Rommel's forces when they tried to get away from Field Marshal Montgomery still were visible.

2 Gunmen Seize $1550 in Roxbury

On the pretense of looking for jobs, two holdup men walked into the office of the McCarthy Bros. Milk Co., Linden Park st., Roxbury, to-day, herded an official and three employees against a wall, and escaped with $1050 in cash and more than $500 in checks.

Confronted with a spectacularly mounting crime wave, Supt. Edward W. Fallon staged a police department shakeup, assigning 11 lieutenants from station houses to headquarters.

He said the men, who will be augmented by other officers now on vacation, will be on cruiser car patrol, "fully armed" to cope with any emergency.

Officers reporting for headquarters assignments were Lis. Michael J. Adley, North End; Philip F. Denney, Jr., Milk st.; Edward L. Kelley, Joy st.; Michael Clougherty, Roxbury Crossing; Robert E. Bowes, Fields Corner; Edward T. Leary, Jamaica Plain; John H. Gloran, Brighton; Patrick J. O'Reilly, Charlestown; Robert J. Dalton, Mattapan; and Dennis F. Dalton, Dudley st.

George McCarthy, an official of the McCarthy Bros. Milk Co., described one of the gunmen as tall, slender and hatless, while the other, short and stocky, had a scarred and pockmarked face.

He said he met the pair as they entered the office on the pretext of seeking employment. Told jobs were available, they drew guns.

McCarthy was forced at gunpoint to open the office door and the pair scooped the money and checks from a safe and from a counter, where some of it was being prepared for bank deposit.

Lining McCarthy, a bookkeeper, Miss Mary Donovan, and two other employees against a wall and threatening to "blow out their brains" if they attempted pursuit, the pair fled in a waiting car.

Biggest loot of the week-end was $10,000 in choice liquors stolen in a break in a Rockland package store.

Three holdup men prevented an East Orange, N. J., doctor from reaching the bedside of his dying grandmother in another crime.

Safes were active again, getting $865 in a Dorchester break, but missing $3000 when they failed in efforts to smash open the safe of a Dedham coal and ice company.

Robert McKenna, Brookline engineer, was saved from a holdup on Veterans of Foreign Wars pkwy. when one of two sailors he was giving a lift from New London to Boston, slugged one of a holdup pair.

The New Jersey physician, Dr. Harold S. Smith, was racing to reach Peter Bent Brigham Hospital with his mother, Mrs. Anna M. Smith, 60, to see Mrs. Ida Smith, of Chiswick rd., Brighton, when three holdup men forced their car to the side of the Worcester turnpike in Wellesley.

The trio forced them into the bandit car and drove to Parker st., Newton, where they took $480 from them. Dr. Smith saved $600 in an inside pocket while his mother concealed a $1000 diamond ring.

They were turned out of the car after the holdup, and the delay prevented them from reaching the hospital before the elder Mrs. Smith died.

Safes were believed to be involved in similar robberies in recent weeks, stole a small safe from the Wonder Laundries, Norwell st., Dorchester, ripped open the door and took $865. They left

Bail of $40,000 Set in Kidnaping Of Baby Sisters

Ralph Frisco, 41, of Portland, Me., pleaded not guilty in Chelsea court today to two counts of kidnaping two baby sisters, and was held for the grand jury in bail of $40,000 by Judge John W. McLeod.

Frisco was arrested in Portland Friday after he allegedly kidnaped Angela Bourne, 3, and her sister, Donna Marie, 1, in Beach st., Revere, near their home in the same street.

Portland police said he told them he had taken the children merely to restore them to their father, John H. Bourne, veteran of both World Wars, in whose home they were found.

Mrs. Bourne, who described Frisco as a former admiral, was said by Revere police to have told them she had left her husband in June.

The council also adopted an order asking Mayor Kerrigan to appropriate $10,000 to continue the centers until March, 1945, in the event federal aid lapses.

Frost, Touch Of Winter as Oct. Bows In October bowed in with such a frigid gesture that if a reliable thermometer had been tucked into a Marston's Mills cranberry bog it would have registered 20.

That was the Weather Bureau's official figure this morning, 6 degrees below the temperature recorded atop Mt. Washington and at Rumford, Me.

The first killing frost of the autumn did damage to New England farms and gardens but Cape Cod cranberry growers with ample warning had flooded their bogs.

The lowest reading for Boston was 42 but Middlesex County had a low of 29.

Total rainfall for the month was 1.62 inches, as compared with a normal average of 3.14, and almost all of the rain fell Sept. 14 and 15.

September's chilly adieu was to the accompaniment of a sharp fall in temperature Saturday, when the mercury began sinking from an official high of 87.

Virtually all New England except its southernmost coastal areas experienced frost.

Ahead, according to the weather bureau, are intermittent rains beginning this afternoon (they did) and continuing tomorrow, with the lowest temperature approximately 52 during the night.

Snyder Sees 8 Million Idle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Reconversion Director John W. Snyder said today there may be 8,000,000 unemployed by next spring, with "high unemployment" persisting through 1946.

He made this prediction in a 46-page report to the President and Congress, labeled, "Three Keys to Reconversion — Production, Jobs, Markets."

But he was "firmly optimistic" about the future, provided the nation works as a team. He asserted:

- 1—Prompt, peaceful settlement of labor-management differences is a reconversion "must."
- 2—Congress should act promptly on those four points in the President's program calling for "full employment, transitional tax adjustments, broadening and raising unemployment compensation and raising minimum wages."
- 3—"The executive branch" must and will be as vigorous in its policies and programs to solve peacetime problems as it was in solving wartime problems."
- 4—"Co-operation and teamwork among 'management and labor, business and farmer, federal, state and local governments' is indispensable."

Judge Charles C. Cabot, chairman of the 1943 War Fund drive, was the principal speaker, and declared that this and similar drives throughout the nation must be successful, since the entire world was looking to the United States for leadership.

5 Billion Tax Cut Outlined by Vinson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—A $5,000,000,000 tax reduction for individuals and business in 1946 was proposed to Congress today by Treasury Secretary Vinson.

In the first tax-cutting legislation to hit Capitol Hill in 16 years, Vinson laid before the House ways and means committee the Administration's plan for easing wartime burdens on personal and corporate pocketbooks. He recommended:

- 1—Repeal of the three per cent normal tax on individuals, effective Jan. 1, thus erasing 12,000,000 low-income persons from the tax rolls completely and reducing the tax liability for all individuals by $2,985,000,000.

2—Elimination of the 95 per cent war-imposed excess profits tax on corporations, reducing 1946 corporate burdens by $2,535,000,000.

3—An end on July 1, 1946, of the high ranking wartime excises on such things as fur coats, jewelry, cosmetics and transportation. The excises under this regulation would return next July to the 1942 level, thus halving the tax on many so-called luxury items.

Vinson said this would result in an annual reduction of $547,000,000 in excise collections.

In presenting the Administration's tax-trimming program, Vinson voiced confidence in the future of the American economy, saying "the war has demonstrated this is a $200,000,000,000 country; an annual gross national product of $200,000,000,000 at present prices is within our reach."

But Vinson said the big national debt and the responsibility to $5,000,000 government bond holders demand careful consideration in tax writing.

The secretary declared that in no event should tax reductions next year go beyond $5,000,000,000.

Referring to the scheduled January 1, 1946, jump in the Social Security tax from one per cent to 2.5 per cent each against employee and employer, Vinson recommended that it be considered later in a general study of Social Security laws.

Nazis Salvaged Hair, Gold Teeth Of Belsen Dead

By JOSEPH WILLICOMBE, JR.

LUENEBURG, Oct. 1 (INS)—A macabre story of German efficiency in disposing of bodies at horror camps was unfolded today by a French doctor who said the Nazis used gold from the victims' teeth, as well as their hair and body fats.

The doctor, who had the "honor" of being picked by the Nazis to aid in the cremation at Oswiecim, said 17 tons of gold were found at the concentration camp. Most of this was gold fillings and inlays from the teeth of those who died in the infamous prison.

Testifying at the trial of horror camp guards, Dr. Charles Bendl declared that he witnessed the cremation of as many as 80,000 bodies in a single day. Before the corpses were burned, however, he said they were bartered and their hair salvaged, perhaps for rope or mattresses.

Fats resulting from the cremation of the victims also were used, the witness said, in the making of soap and munitions.

Bendl, one of the best prosecution witnesses to testify so far, said that the 80,000 persons burned in that single day were all Jews from the Lodz ghetto. He said there were four crematoria at Oswiecim, with two gas chambers attached to each.

Roman Sempolinsky, a former inmate from Lodz, identified Kramer and pinned a murder charge directly on the "Beast of Belsen" when he said that only a few days before his liberation Kramer killed some friends who had been foraging for potatoes.

At the same time, he also shot me," Sempolinsky added.

Baby Boy Born in Taxi to Lawrence Memorial Hospital. When the stork arrived prematurely, while the cab was speeding through Forest st., off Medford sq., Mrs. Stanley calmly functioned as she had in cases where no kinship existed.

The women met their mutual ordeal in the practical manner of women the world over, but it was another matter for the driver, George H. Johnson, 61, of Tainter st., Medford, even though he has two children of his own and 10 grandchildren. He said:

"In all my 24 years of taxi driving nothing like that ever happened to me before. My youngsters and my grandchildren weren't in such a hurry to get into the world."

His wife said: "He was all shot to pieces when he came home. I sent him to bed."

The proud father will hear of the news in Egypt. He is PFC Edward Jewett, stationed in Cairo. The taxicab baby is the brother of a 14-month-old girl.

Col. Lee Given Greatest Hero Welcome in Boston

Col. George T. Lee, Norwood's famous "Iron Man," arrived at South Station at 3 p. m. to one of the biggest welcomes given a hero in this war.

The 26-year-old Thunderbolt pilot, ETO record-holder of 258 combat missions and commander of the renowned 86th Fighter Group, "Lee's Lieutenants," cabled his mother, Mrs. Mary Lee of Rock st., Norwood, from Paris Saturday that he'd be home today.

Greeting him at South Station were Gov. Tobin, Mayor Kerrigan, Monsignor Joseph Walsh of Norwood and Rev. Joseph Hart of the Holy Cross fathers.

Col. Lee was presented with telegrams from Congressman Richard Wigglesworth and Senator Leverett Saltonstall, congratulating him on his outstanding service to his country in a time of need. Rev. Christopher Griffin of Norwood, director of the homecoming celebration, presented the telegrams.

Among the festivities in Norwood was a parade leaving Giles st. at 4 p. m., with the Norwood High School band and the drum corps of St. Catherine's Church playing. Fire whistles blew as he entered his home town, and a carillon concert was given from the tower of Norwood's municipal building.

Norwood's former butcher boy, he flew 175 sorties before a furlough last May. He returned to

Admits School List 'Injustice'

Called as the first witness in hearing on the mandamus petition of Paul B. Crudden, seeking to force him to recommend promotions for vacancies in Boston high schools, School Supt. Arthur L. Gould testified in Suffolk Superior Court today he felt there were "injustices" on the present headmasters' list.

"My opinion and that of the majority of the board of superintendents is that injustice has been done to some on the present list," he said in reply to a question by Atty. Richard C. Evars, counsel for Crudden.

In his opening Evars charged that Gould, at a school committee meeting last Aug. 6, had refused to make a recommendation from the list to fill a vacancy as headmaster of the High School of Commerce.

Gould testified he did not refuse to make the recommendation and added that the board of superintendents, meeting Aug. 6, had favored re-rating teaching ability on the list.

3 Maine School Fugitives Caught In Andover

ANDOVER, Oct. 1 — Three juveniles, who escaped from the State school in South Portland, Me., last Saturday were captured after a chase in this town today when their actions aroused the suspicions of Patrolman John Deyermann.

The trio, who told of making their way through a swamp to a wooded area near the State school and watching from perches in pine trees as searchers beat the brush below in a hunt for them, allegedly had reached Andover, partly by riding in stolen autos and partly by foot.

According to Police Chief George A. Dane, the three said they took a doctor's car and drove to Kittery, Me., after leaving the woods Saturday night. They said they abandoned the car in Kittery and made their way along the railroad tracks to Newburyport. They allegedly broke into a roadside stand there to obtain food and later appropriated a car which they abandoned in Lawrence. They were trudging toward Boston when Deyermann spotted them.

They broke into a run and the officer gave chase, capturing them.

They were turned over to Newburyport police for action on the break and the auto appropriation.

Pigeons Burn Out High Volt Wires

LEOMINSTER, Oct. 1 (AP)—Pigeons have been blamed for a hot but today, for the first time, they were held responsible for burning out high-tension power wires.

For a long time employees of the Wachusett Electric Co. were baffled by mysterious burnings of many feeder wires leading to a transformer.

Then Edmund Legere, insurance man, saw pigeons fly over. There was a flash. Down came the wires.

"Something the pigeons dropped," he reasoned, "caused a short circuit." Searchers found strands of flexible wires the pigeons apparently wanted for their nests.

His Pennies From Heaven

Christ's Church, Cambridge, is due for a windfall of 14 cents, come Sunday.

A physician and his wife, long parishioners, took their 3-year-old son there yesterday for his first session of Sunday school. They purged him to donate when the plate came around. But apparently they didn't go into sufficient detail.

When the plate came to him he gratefully scooped out 14 pennies and stuffed them in his pocket, thankful he had discovered such a wonderful new world. The adult plate carrier did not disabuse him.

When, exulting over the phenomenon at home, the 3-year-old learned the hard, cold truth from his father, he protested:

"But they were passing them around like cookies."

DESIGNED BY. 6 YEARS AGO

"Isn't that a good looking dress—did you just buy it?" That's the query that greeted Miss Lotta. Clothes the other morning. Of course, her mother is a clever dress-maker, and this young lady is always impeccably gowned—so her associates thought it was another of mother's new designs. "Oh, no—this isn't new—I bought it in Filene's Basement six years ago when I first came to work in the studio. I only paid $6.95 for it and did you know it's as—"

If we could mention the name of the designer and the exclusive shop that usually sells his dresses, eyebrows would surely raise alibidewards! A stunning blue and faint red plaid that looked like imported material, separate short sleeve dress with suit jacket with all the earmarks of the present season's fashion highlights—brief sleeves, front fullness, Vee neckline and the stud-like buttons and tiny buttonholes surely emphasized the ingenious craftsmanship of the master designer. "It washes like a handkerchief and never seems to go out of style, and I've worn and worn it."

It is definitely looked several times in low $6.95 price... one of those pre-war, wear-over fashions that this fashion-wise miss found for the proverbial "song", as the saying goes. A glowing example of how very frequently Filene's Basement bargains not only have low prices to recommend them but they are fashionable to the nth degree.

Truman Visits High Court To See Burton Sworn In

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—President Truman made an unprecedented visit to the Supreme Court today to see his first appointee, Harold H. Burton of Ohio, sworn in as an associate justice.

Veteran court officials said in the court's 155-year history no President had ever appeared in the courtroom while chief executive.

Mr. Truman stepped into the yellow marble room from a side entrance eight minutes before the black-robed justices marched to their bench at noon.

Court attaches escorted Mr. Truman to a mahogany table reserved for counsel directly beneath the bar and a few feet from Chief Justice Stone. From this point in front of the jammed courtroom he had an unobstructed view of the brief ceremony by which Burton, Republican with whom the President served in the Senate, became a member of the high tribunal.

The court marshal, Thomas E. Waggaman, clapped his hands sharply and commanded "Rise!" as Mr. Truman entered the chamber.

Readers Urged to Act Now To Give Buddies Yule Cheer

With only two weeks remaining, it is urgent for all who have enlisted in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign to prepare and mail as soon as possible.

For those who have not yet enlisted, there is still time to fill out and mail the coupon accompanying this article. In return you will receive the name of an overseas chaplain, stationed overseas either at a Navy base or with an Army division, who will distribute your gift to the men and women of all faiths within his unit.

Last year, if you enlisted in this campaign, you sent your gift to an individual soldier or sailor, Marine or Coast Guardsman. This year, because so many of these boys, and the women in service, too, are in process of return or on their way home, the Christmas packages will be sent direct to overseas chaplains.

A mother who for three years has sent a Christmas box to an unknown soldier writes:

"Last year, I received a letter of gratitude from the soldier to whom I sent a Christmas gift. A few months later, I saw his name among the heroic dead, killed in action."

"I had hoped this boy might return home, and that I might meet him. This cannot be. But in his memory, I want to make Christmas happy for some other soldier. Please send me the name of a chaplain who will distribute my gift to another soldier, still living but far from his loved ones."

Postoffice regulations require that the label bearing the name of the chaplain be pasted on the wrapping of your parcel, and that you also write or print clearly in ink the same name and address, and also your own name and return address.

High Court Hears Rubin's Appeal

Concentrating on a point unprecedented in Massachusetts legal history, Atty. Reuben L. Lurie fought before the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court today to free Joseph Rubin, former Boston night club owner, from a 10 to 15-year State Prison sentence.

Lurie stressed in his argument the exceptions taken to Superior Court Judge Joseph L. Hurley's exclusion of testimony regarding an uncommunicated threat, allegedly made by Guy Formica, whose fatal shooting in June, 1941, resulted in Rubin's conviction for manslaughter.

Lurie, who replaced Atty. Daniel A. Gallagher as counsel for Rubin, said he could find no precedent in Massachusetts law regarding such threats, but that in 30 other states such testimony was admissible.

He contended Gallagher in a bench conference made an offer of proof Formica, after a scuffle in a South End night club, made such threat. He said the judge excluded it on the ground Rubin had not heard it.

Lurie claimed it was up to the jury to decide whether the threat was made.

Arguments are continuing.

Three Children Face Gallarelli

Three children, the eldest 12 years, were witnesses today at the trial of Samuel J. Gallarelli, 24, of Windsor rd., Medford, charged with murdering John E. MacKenzie, 39-year-old ex-convict.

In Middlesex Superior Court the youngsters, Joan Hartwell, 10; Adolph Barsanti, 11, and Paul Molinari, 12, neighbors of Gallarelli, told Judge Abraham Pinanski and the jury, they found a wallet believed to be MacKenzie's in a lot near the Gallarelli home.

The state charges Gallarelli dropped the wallet after allegedly shooting MacKenzie in the Gallarelli home January 17.

B-29s Bring Airmen Home for Discharge

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 1 (AP)—Completing the 2400-mile hop from Hawaii approximately 25 minutes ahead of schedule, 14 B-29s of the global 20th Air Force landed at Mather Field this morning, bringing home the first large group of Superfortress airmen set for demobilization.

Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commanding the 20th, said approximately 70 per cent of the men who came in today will be released immediately to civilian life.

Jobs for Young Officers Toughest Vet Aid Problem

Finding jobs for youthful officers is the greatest problem confronting veterans' assistance officials, William Stack, director of the Holyoke Veterans' Service Center, declared today.

Speaking before a sub-committee of the State Commission on Postwar Problems, Stack said many of the former officers were in their early twenties.

"These young men rose to captains and majors but had little if any training in civilian pursuits," he said. "They simply can't face the issue that they must now revert to jobs that befitted their civilian training."

He said the former officers seek civilian jobs which pay salaries approximating their earnings in the service.

David P. Archambault of the Greenfield Center declared every town in the state should be compelled to establish a veterans' center. He said centers in larger communities are expected to help all servicemen under the present setup and that it was "unfair to the taxpayers" in those towns.

Equity Weighing Frank Fay Protest of Slurs on Pope

Special to The Evening American
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Council of Actors Equity had before it today a demand by Frank Fay, stage and screen star, for a full-scale inquiry into actions of five of its members who participated in a Communist-backed rally at Madison Square Garden which applauded attacks on the Catholic Church.

Fay appeared before a tempestuous meeting of Equity in the Hotel Astor yesterday and was applauded when he said:

"Actors Equity always has stood for equality regardless of race, creed or color, and never has condoned its members attacking the faith of others."

"If members of Actors Equity have been guilty of participating in a demonstration which defamed the Pope, the head of the Catholic Church, I demand that such members be publicly reprimanded."

Despite interruptions from left-wingers and Reds among the 400 in the meeting, Fay demanded:

"If member of Actors Equity appeared before that Garden meeting and falsely presented himself as representing the cast of his show, I ask the immediate expulsion of that member."

Listening to him were Margo, of "A Bell For Adano;" Sono Osato, of "On the Town;" Luba

Malina, of "Marinka;" and David Brooks, of "Bloomer Girl," all of whom participated in the meeting and who indicated members of the casts of their shows backed the Red-inspired attack on the Vatican.

"I always have believed that Actors Equity means equality, and that means everyone is entitled to an even break regardless of his faith," Fay told the meeting, at which Bert Lytell presided.

Laps Lapse

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1 (AP)—A little girl watched, puzzled, as a crowd jammed the aisle of a city bus.

"Mother," came her shrill pipe, "what are all those people standing up for? There's lots of laps."

behind $9.51 in change and $117 in checks. The break was discovered after the smashed safe was found in a lot at C and Silver sts., South Boston.

In Dedham burglars broke into the cellar of the Fuller-Churchill Coal & Ice Co. office at Eastern ave. and the Providence turnpike and sawed a hole through the floor to reach the office.

They blew off the outer door of the large safe, but the inner door resisted their efforts and they fled, leaving more than $3000 in Saturday receipts intact.

Thieves broke into a service station in Washington st., Dedham, and stole $300 worth of acetylene torch equipment, useful in breaking into safes.

In the Rockland break, entry was gained by breaking through an outer brick wall of the South Shore Beverage Co. in Union st., and one of the firm's trucks was used to cart away the loot. The truck was found abandoned in Avon several hours later. Experts examined the store premises today for fingerprints.

Two Negroes, who hired the taxicab of John L. Bailey, 58, of Lawn st., Roxbury, ordered him to drive to Holsworth st., where they drew guns and relieved him of $27. To prevent quick pursuit, the pair took Bailey's shoes and ignition keys before they fled.

A window-smashing thief escaped with $500 worth of watches after breaking the glass of a Statler building jewelry shop. Witnesses said the culprit, about 27 and weighing about 155, was bowlegged, had sideburns and a long nose.

Reporting the holdup attempt blocked by a sailor he had befriended, McKenna, a consulting engineer who lives in Pelham Hall, Brookline, told police he had picked up the hitch-hiking tars in New London and was driving them to Boston when a holdup car forced him to the side of the road on the parkway in Dedham.

As one of the holdup pair opened the door and started to pull him from the car, McKenna said, one of the sailors lunged from the back seat and hit the man in the face.

As the latter reeled, McKenna put the car into gear and sped away.

Atomic Bomb Defense Found

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1 (AP)—A defense technique has been devised against atomic bombs, so simple that the bombs can be detonated without even knowing their exact whereabouts. Larry Crosby, head of the Crosby research Foundation and brother of singer Bing Crosby, said today. Its very simplicity might prove a menace, Crosby said, and an amateur experimenter might unwittingly explode a store of atomic bombs as far away as four miles, with catastrophic results. Crosby, declining to divulge the basic principle, said the secret would be turned over to the proper authorities only on condition that it be used solely to compel fair treatment of the United States from other nations.

The school is sponsored by the U.S. Army. Here some of the students take a ride on a wagonload of hay from a field of the 550-acre school farm after their hay-pitching class is completed.

WAR FUND FACTS

THE Greater Boston United War Fund campaign for $7,750,000 opened today and continues to October 17.

It is the eleventh annual drive made by the Community Fund and the fifth appeal of the Fund for its own and national war-related services.

The Red Feather has been adopted as a symbol of voluntary giving to meet human needs, and it will be worn as a badge of honor by all subscribers.

To help the people of Greater Boston understand the War Fund and its purposes, Mr. Michael T. Kelleher, the chairman, asks and answers the following questions:

Why do the Red Feather services of the Community Fund need so much money?

Because every one of them is doing as much work as before victory in Europe and Asia. Our hospitals and health services are serving more people and facing continually rising maintenance costs. Our youth agencies must protect our children from the effects of wartime living. All Red Feather services must not only deal with complex community problems brought on by war but must also continue their peacetime work.

How much of what a person gives goes to Red Feather services?

More than 94 cents of every contributed dollar goes to support Red Feather services. This good record is accomplished because of the free time given by more than 30,000 men and women during the campaign and the help of hundreds of others in the year-round work of the Fund.

Why is foreign relief included in the Fund?

Through United Nations Relief of the National War Fund we give outright gifts of clothes, food concentrates, medical and surgical supplies to the homeless, the refugees and prisoners of war of our Allies. These are gifts of the people of one nation to the people of other nations.

If each of us personally helped the needy people who happened to come to our attention, why should we also give to the Community Fund?

The well-being of our community is not an INDIVIDUAL problem, but one that concerns the community AS A WHOLE. It cannot be solved by a hit-and-miss method dependent on individual philanthropy, but only by a program of skilled social planning.

What does the Fund do?

Red Feather services cover almost every field of community life. In Greater Boston, 288 hospitals, health and social services are supported, wholly or partially, through contributions to the United War Fund.

Well-baby conferences and maternity hospitals protect our children. Teen-age canteens, children's hospitals, neighborhood houses and other activities serve our youth.

For older people, family services, veterans' services, aid to the handicapped and recreational facilities are available.

For all ages, there are Red Feather hospitals, visiting nurses and other health services.

And, finally, there are Red Feather homes for the aged. Thus the Fund provides a complete cycle of service for everyone in our Greater Boston community.

What does the Fund do with the money that is contributed?

The Fund allocates all money according to need. Every dollar is spent within a previously approved budget. The preparation of these budgets is a year-round job for about 200 volunteer businessmen and women who give months of their time to the study of the social needs of Greater Boston.

A CALIFORNIAN named three puppies born on the Fourth of July Bing Bang and Boom . . . only Florida and Kansas recognized proxy marriages of girls in the United States to men in the armed forces stationed overseas . . .

Dorothy Parker blonde, five feet seven and a half inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, states she has received 15 proposals of marriage in less than a year. She adds: "And I wear glasses. Let Dorothy Parker think that over."

SIDELIGHTS: A Chicago report some of the younger feminine residents of his city are becoming so aggressive in the search for male companionship that they are giving out with "wolf-whistles" when a good-looking young fellow passes by . . . In 1942 and 1943 the fighting men were singing a pessimistic ditty titled: "The Golden Gate by Forty-Eight." Now they are singing "River-side Drive by Forty-Five."

WAGES: A statistician states the average weekly wage for men in the manufacturing industries in New York State in 1945 was $39.33. When I was a kid we big shot on our block in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, was a man whose salary was $50 a week. He lived in a big house and wore a silk hat Sundays. Still, the amount of a salary is no basis for comparison. It is what the money will buy at the time it is earned. And in the days of my early youth $50 would buy you plenty.

DANGEROUS AGE: According to those who have made a careful study of the matter, the dangerous age for women is between 45 and 50. That is the time when previously sedate matrons suddenly break out as red-hot mamas. This is particularly true if they are widows. Between 45 and 50 many women become flighty. They start on a search for their youth. They are careless in their selection of male companionship. No doubt that is why so many middle-aged widows are victimized by younger men.

HORSES & WOMEN: The husband of a Hollywoodian criticized her hats. He also said at times when she laughed she cackled like a hen. So she sued for divorce. Most women are highly critical, but few men take criticism; even when constructive. It could be the aforementioned husband was right about his wife's hats. Maybe they didn't fit her face. Perhaps they made her too conspicuous. Possibly they subjected her to ridicule. As for cackling like a hen when laughing, that is a grievous fault in a woman. It can be corrected. In any event this incident reveals the danger in criticizing a wife. The members of those New York and Pittsburgh Horses & Women Clubs who intend to try to improve women by constructive criticism are taking an awful chance. A lot of members may end up paying alimony.

PASSING BY: Lena Horne, chanteuse. She started on the chorus line of Harlem's Cotton Club, then became a band canary for Charlie Barnett's orchestra, after which she sang at Cafe Society in Greenwich Village and has now achieved a pay check of at least $5000 a week.

ASIDES: "The Japs adopted baseball before the war," says a sports scribe. But he doesn't say what war. Fact is, the Japs adopted baseball in 1878, nearly 70 years ago . . . Tulips just arrived from Holland, brandy just off the boat from France and automobiles newly arrived from England are now on sale in New York. European manufacturers certainly lost no time after the war in getting into the U. S. market.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Now there are past performance charts on college football teams for the convenience of the gamblers. In the Fall more money is bet on college football than there is on horse races . . . Add members of the M. N. I. A. P. Club: Meier

Dale Carnegie Brian, Kansas . . . Dale Carnegie states he is against the use of initials in names. Says it just makes extra work for stenographers. That's why he dropped the "H" middle initial from his name. Very thoughtful of him. I'll have to ask my friend C. C. Tatum what he thinks of this idea.

"Pretty good idea of our Morale Officer—havin' us get paid like it was a race track!"

FAR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1945, by King Features Synd., Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Let us assume that the men with the little gold button in the left lapel—civilians who were fighters in uniform yesterday—all want jobs.

Many jobs are available but the union movement forbids the war veterans to work at them.

Going farther, the unions will terrorize the veterans' families. Persons unknown will throw bricks and filth through their windows, keep them sleepless in the night with mysterious threats by telephone and plant silent landmines in drive-ways, consisting of small nails in boards, to ruin their tires.

The police and sheriffs will be helpless. The law will be useless. Government will abdicate as it did before.

But the veterans are good fighters, as the Germans and Japs learned in battle. Having faced gunfire and explosive landmines, surely they are not afraid of a few hundred unmilitary civilians. Afraid? Of course, they are not afraid. They are fighters.

WELL, THEN, why won't the veterans meet force with force and psychological terror with methods that they learned in training and perfected in war?

The answer is that the union terrorists were thinking far ahead. They foresaw this situation and planned well for it.

They are organized and the veterans are not.

Union propaganda does not always threaten those who would crash the picket lines. Often it wheedles, pleading with them to forsake the cause of the corporations, to see the light and their fellow proletarians, saying nothing, however, about dictatorship under racketeers and Communists.

BUT, IF IT comes to fighting with tire irons, battle-hooks and clubs studded with nails, they are organized for that, too. The sticks which carry the strike placards technically are not clubs but harmless staffs with their printed appeals.

These placards dwindled in size during the organization strikes in the motor industry under Mr. Roosevelt's patronage until they were mere calling-cards, held in place by nails. They had become wicked weapons. The Supreme Court would forbid any attempt to disarm the pickets of these clubs. They are just a legitimate and innocent means of holding aloft printed appeals. Freedom of speech, you know.

And, of course, the union armies wear uniforms for identification. Sometimes the uniform consists of a distinctive CIO overseas cap with insignia and piping. It may be a brassard.

We know that private armies are forbidden but we have old movies taken in Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania, during Roosevelt's CIO riots, which show organization, command and discipline.

AMERICAN VETERANS were the greatest fighters in the world fighting as units or teams. Each man had his duties and they co-operated like the parts of a ship in a storm or a machine in motion. They had uniforms, psychological weapons and the backing of a government which now abandons them in favor of their enemies on the picket lines in their war for the right to work.

Now they are individuals. If they try to organize, the unions will plant spies among them to tip off the union intelligence regarding their plans and to spread propaganda in their ranks. The unions have hundreds of millions of war profits for their fight. The veterans are broke. Moreover, if they adopt distinctive caps or brassards and try to carry the fight to the picket lines, they violate the laws of their States and Federal laws, too.

But surely men who fought to preserve the nation against foreign enemies while the unions feared, fled, and increased their political power and their treasures at home, have as much right to organize for battle as the unions have and the right to go unmolested to and from lawful employment.

That is what they think. That is what you think.

But it just isn't so. The union bosses knew it all the time, moreover, and planned for these strikes knowing that rioting and terrorism were conceded to be their exclusive right in Mr. Roosevelt's time.

They, alone, of all elements in the United States, enjoy those rights and there is no indication that President Truman will challenge them.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1—Red Skelton, out of the Army with a medical discharge in his pocket, had the red carpet at MGM put down to welcome back the top funny man. But better than words, Red learned a honey of a stage play, "The Show-Off," is already scripted and waiting for him.

Louis B. Mayer couldn't have hit on a better story. I saw it years ago in New York with Hal Skelly, and later Joe E. Brown played it on the Coast.

Red Skelton

The title fits the story and Red fits the title, not that he has been doing much showing off lately, however. He has been very sick in a military hospital in the South and for a long time friends worried over his condition.

But he made friends wherever he was. A boy named Tommy Canada sent me almost weekly reports about what swell guy Red is and how much he meant for morale. He and Georgia, his bride, go away for a month.

I USUALLY HATE sequels because they aren't one, two, three with the originals, but I think Darryl Zanuck's idea to make a sequel to "Home in Indiana" may be a bright exception. That was the movie that started Jeanne Crain and June Haver to stardom—and I mean stardom. Jeanne is on top with "State Fair," and as for June, wait until you see her in "The Dolly Sisters." June and Jeanne will be together again in "Golden Hooves," the sequel, and if Lon McCallister is out of the service then, he too will be in the lineup. Wonder if Lon and Jeanne will take up romantically where they left off?

WARNER BROTHERS walked out of the Hays Office a few months ago because they felt Hays wasn't putting up an effective enough fight for them. Now I hear reliably they are not adverse to rejoining the Motion Picture Producers' Association, provided their talk with Eric Johnston, the new head, is as successful as everyone believes it should be. Warners belong in the association and I am reasonably sure Johnston will go more than half way to get them back. So don't be surprised if an announcement comes through, and soon, that the strayed sheep are back in the fold.

FROM NEW YORK comes the announcement that Mike Todd is joining Universal Studios as a producer. That is about all the news the company here has of his plans. The yarn confirms he will probably bring many of his stage hits to the movies, but Mike hasn't tipped his hand on what he plans to do first. I happen to know he is pretty well tied up on Broadway with his Al Joelson play and the new Cole Porter musical, which he will produce this winter.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Not very many people know, outside of Bette Davis' closest friends, that she has been seeing her ex-husband, Ilam Nelson. He is now out of the Army and, to me, looks very thin. But Ilam has been through a very

—E. Emma Campbell Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
"He's a war dog, Dear. He's not used to seeing anyone in civilian clothes hug me!"

strenuous time in the South Pacific. Bette never made a secret that the man she loved was her first husband, and it wouldn't surprise the people who love Bette if she and Ilam kissed and made up. What would happen to Cpl. Louis Riley? Well, I wouldn't be knowing. Maybe that's cold now. Could be.

DIDN'T MUCH think Rudy Vallee would play Russell Birdwell in "I Ring Door Bells." That casting would have been too ridiculous. Understand, however, that Rudy didn't refuse to do the picture because he felt he was unlike Birdwell. It was because he demanded so much money that even the door bells would have been in jeopardy. Now he's been signed by Preston Sturges to play a wealthy playboy in "The Sin of Harold Diddleback," the Harold Lloyd movie. He'll play the same type of character he did for Sturges in "Palm Beach Story."

EMILY KIMBROUGH brought her bird to the unveiling of Peggy Wood's portrait, and believe it or not she wore it in a bird cage designed as a hat. The bird whistles and does wolf calls, which Emily says embarrasses her no end, since all the "wolves" stop and listen. Artist Robert Kitchen, who gave the cocktail party, has done a most interesting painting of Peggy. Her son, John Weaver, Jr., a tall, handsome boy, was there with his mother, Judith Anderson, Hebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, the Ronald Colmans and many others dropped in. Kitchen has also done a painting of Pat Smart's youngest that I thought particularly good.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Barbara Ford, pretty daughter of Director John Ford, and Watson Webb, socialite, are expected to make an announcement very soon; Evelyn Ankers is very happy her husband, Richard Benning, is out of service and is returning to Paramount. They leave on a ten-day vacation before he checks in at the studio; the Henry Hathaways have parted and she is expected to take her troubles to court. He is in New York; a tragic sequel to the story of Philip Dorn's son dying in a concentration camp in Holland is the word his wife received that her family of 84 persons were saved out by the Germans; Kathleen Winsor's husband, Marine Lt. Robert Herwig, is here on a 30-day leave; there is a whisper that Don Topping has his next bride selected, but it may be gossip. I happen to know Sonja has consulted a lawyer about a divorce; Busby Berkeley, married four times but never a father, told me today his wife expects a visit from the stork next summer. And is he excited! Archie Mayo, another well-known director, and his bride are also buying baby clothes.

IF GEORGE RAFT can get his freedom he'll marry Betty Doss, the beautiful New Orleans girl who is seeking a movie career. George has been separated from his wife for 20 years; everyone expects Gene Markey and Myrna Loy to wed very soon. They are together constantly.

the rough-draft stage now, is fascinating reading for Broadwayites, especially certain Broadwayites. . . . Heavens to Betsy! Boston After Dark MONDAY MUSINGS: When the inside history of the direction of America's military and naval strategy in World War II is written, the name of Adm. William D. Leahy will emerge as this country's No. 1 strategist. . . . The Admiral's daily routine of work in itself should prove an interesting chapter of any tome concerned with Uncle Sam's superb fighting effort. . . . The Admiral made a practice of getting to the President's office at 6:15 a. m.

IF A PRESS conference was on tap, Leahy would wait at the White House until it was ended in event that President Roosevelt encountered a question which he felt disposed to answer, but which required the counsel of the Admiral. . . . Admiral Leahy then would go to GHQ for a conference with Generals Marshall and Arnold and Admiral King.

BUT THE adjustment of the little colored pins on the large globular map at GHQ which indicated the positions of our forces and those of the enemy was by then an old story to Admiral Leahy. . . . Earlier in the morning he had used in winter time it was sometimes before sunrise) the tireless tactician who enjoyed so much of Roosevelt's confidence already had moved similar little colored pins on the tremendous map which he and his Chief used for their conferences in the President's office.

IT MIGHT have been expected that Admiral Leahy, familiar as he was with France, would have been an important figure in the planning of strategy for the Normandy assault by the Allies. . . . It will be a surprise to most that his was the brain which dominated the conferences which set the time for the MacArthur's island hopping (with the advice, of course, of the inspired General MacArthur).

EXCLUSIVE: Horsemen objected so strenuously to admitting Detroit horse owner and the trainer for the stable to Rockingham that they threatened a strike unless the outfit was denied stalls. . . . Basis of the protest was that the Detroit duo had claimed so many horses for Nervagansett in the spring meeting that they had stripped small barns of racing stock which was in condition. . . . and that after halting the horses, the Detroit owner and the trainer shipped to Detroit for an entire summer season of racing. . . . Lou Smith felt that he was in a difficult spot and told the representatives of the horsemen how he felt.

AS THE Detroit owner was a member of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, the protesting horse-owners also were placing themselves in a situation which looked as an unbrotherly position in trying to blackball a fellow-member. . . . The tangle has been arbitrated. . . . The Detroit combination will race at the Old Rock a week from Monday.

THE STORY is made quite important to the Sport of Kings (so-called) because the trainer of the Detroit barn currently is the leading trainer of the country. . . . In winning more than 70 races to date (76—I think), he has saddled more winners than the perennial No. 1 trainer, the former pigeon-fancier Hirsch Jacobs of New York, who—by the way—says that part of his system of inspiring horses to do their utmost is by crooning into their erect ears.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Mr. and Mrs. Harris Leveson of Delray, Fla., are in town for a visit. . . . Mrs. Leveson was Kelly Mitchell Brown, Boston's widely known nightclub operator (The Brown Derby). . . . In Providence for Spencer Tracy's return to the legitimate stage (his first role since "The Last Mile" in 1930) were Loretta Young and Bob Montgomery and others. . . . A choice bit of information to Ralph Snider of the Bradford and Mickey Redstone of the Mayfair, both of whom are at their wits' ends in looking star attractions, should be the news that Alan Cross and Henry Dunn have composed their differences and are returning to the "profession" as partners in song again. . . . One of the most popular male duos, Cross and Dunn split out two years ago. . . . Alan has been co-piloting a restaurant in Providence.

RECOMMENDED: Sometimes, as the saying goes, one cannot see the forest for the trees. Within a 200-yard sprint from this desk is one of Boston's finest restaurants, Warmuth's. . . . Its menu is undoubtedly the most varied and complete in Boston. . . . Its food is wonderful and its liquor is what you ask for. . . . But—imagine this. . . . Johnny Walker Black Label and Haig Pinch sell for 48 cents a drink. . . . In fact, there is no higher price for any brand of liquor. . . . Warmuth's, of course, is a tradition to the round-the-clock workers of these premises in Winthrop (Record-American) square. . . . We apologize for not calling the general public's notice to this Boston institution more frequently than we do. (Not that they need it.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—As an old fisherman and completist, a half-pound perch single-handed (Gad, what a triumph of man over the brute beast!) I view with foreboding the disclosure that radar is to be used to catch fish.

It appears that some scientific fellow, who probably thinks a large-mouth bass is an opera singer, has invented a radar device which detects the presence of schools of fish and flashes their whereabouts on a graph.

The gadget, which has been brilliantly named "Fisherman's Radar," operates like the wartime thing that detected enemy planes and subs. It records the pressure of anything with a density greater than water, presumably including Miss Reid, who is even denser.

One of the demonstrators of the gadget got off a killing nifty. Working without blackface, he quipped:

"The fish chart eliminates the necessity of asking old-time fishermen where to go. Sometimes they tell you where to go to get fish and sometimes just where to go."

I DON'T CARE how good the demonstrators are at reviving vaudeville gags. I deplore the whole idea. If you want my opinion, I think that science this time has come too bloody far.

What chance have the poor fish if you go hunting them with radar? Before long there won't be a fish in the ocean because fishermen are notoriously hogs; they'll pull them in as long as they continue biting. I have yet to hear a true fisherman beef there were too many fish, even if he was fly-casting in an aquarium. Even if he detests fish as food he'll take all he can snaggle, or, if fishing in fresh water, all the law allows. Some sort of fool-priest achievement, I suppose.

I remember once fishing in Great South Bay, L. I., with Judge Sam Leibowitz of Brooklyn. The eminent jurist had no need for seafood, being a very brainy fellow already, but he howled to high heaven because he caught only 20 bluefish and loudly expressed a yearning to pass the death sentence on other fishermen in the vicinity who had outdone him.

Besides, one of the great fascinations of fishing is the continual uncertainty whether you are going to catch anything. You cruise around, trying to guess where the fish may be. If you guess right, you look patronizingly upon other fishermen who were not so lucky. If they guess right, and you don't, you curse out the boat captain as a dolt who obviously doesn't know his business.

This makes for fine fun and leaves everyone merry as a marriage bell, except the boat captain and his passengers.

BUT NOW, if you go hunting the finny denizens (Hiya, finny denizens!) with a mechanical device nothing will be left to chance. Imagine trying to brag that you know the fish haunts of a certain body of water like the palm of your hand when radar is doing all the work!

You won't be able to impress a living soul with your pictorial prowess. In fact, someone will probably compose a jeering song hit:

"Pictorial Pops, Don't You Try to Pook Pook Me!"

IF THIS thing is allowed to go unchecked, heaven only knows what the harvest will be. Some over-enterprising fisherman is almost sure to want to speed up operations by going after fish with atom bombs. This, naturally, would never do. A mackerel that had been atom-bombed would continue to be radio-active for weeks thereafter.

REP. CHARLES MARION LAFOLETTE, Republican of Indiana, has introduced a bill which advocates the "operation of industrial plants by workers' co-operatives, or by government ownership and operation, rather than by the accepted American method of private employer ownership and employe workers."

Mr. LaFollette insists he is not kidding. Furthermore, he avers his bill will cure practically all our present-day ills, except possibly fallen arches, dandruff, and a left-handed sacroiliac.

With practically flower-like modesty he claims it will do all the following:

"Promote full employment; promote the national welfare; foster and protect the American home, the American family and the American way of life; eliminate discrimination in employment because of race, creed, color, national origin or ancestry; raise the standard of living of the American people; provide adequate employment for returning veterans; contribute to the full utilization of national resources; preserve and strengthen competitive enterprises, particularly small business; strengthen the national defense and security; contribute to the establishment and maintenance of lasting peace among nations."

Vets Protected On Job Skills

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Selective service contends that veterans are entitled to re-employment, even though job standards in their former positions have increased since they left for service.

Under an interpretation of the draft act announced today, employers cannot require veterans to meet higher standards or requirements set up for other employees in the same or similar positions.

"If the position has so changed in job content that it is beyond the veteran's skill," the statement said, "He is entitled to a job requiring skill comparable to that required by the position which he left at the time he left and equal in seniority, status and pay to that which he vacated."

War Goods Loss Set at 50 Billion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Federal officials expect a loss of at least $50,000,000,000 in sale and disposal of America's surplus war goods.

Rep. Manasco (D.) of Alabama, chairman of the House expenditures committee, said:

"Our surplus war goods are evaluated at somewhere between $60,000,000,000 and $100,000,000,000, depending on whether you figure the amount at actual cost or at supposed worth."

"Because much of this material is either overseas, or obsolete, or both, it is expected that we will only realize about $10,000,000,000 on its sale."

U. S. CORRESPONDENT DIES

TOKYO, Oct. 1 (AP)—Collier's correspondent Robert Bellare, 30, was killed and his colleague Frank Morris was seriously hurt on Sept. 29, when their jeep, passing an ambulance on the outskirts of Tokyo, overturned.

SEINER'S CREW SAVED
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1 (AP)—Twelve crewmen aboard the 54-ton fisherman seiner J. H. Edwards were rescued from their sinking craft after it had rammed in the main channel off the Golden Gate by freighter.

Chance to Consult Famous Hair Stylist

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

FLUFFY RINGLETS, curls and untidy manes are definitely out of the hair fashion picture this season . . . and no smart woman will tolerate anything but a clean, sleek head silhouette. There's been much to do about the new hair styles . . . but like everything that has to do with the new and different in fashion . . . only what is right and becoming to one's face and personality should be an individual's choice.

"BRAIDED PSYCHE," a hairdo which holds great potentialities for romance . . . and compliments for the woman who adopts it . . . will be introduced by Michel, clever New York stylist, in the Boston salon of a noted cosmetician this week during his four-day appearance for consultations. Originator of the top-knot, Michel has many variations of the clean, sleek hair silhouette . . . so enchantingly youthful and refreshing . . . to offer Boston women. He'll be very happy to study your type and prescribe a hairdo for you.

We think the new hair styles are smart and intriguing . . . young-looking and typically identified with the uncluttered American look. They require attention and care. But no well-groomed woman slap-dashes her hair, anyway.

Hence, the arrival of Michel, famous coiffure stylist, and originator of the popular top-knot and psyche, in Boston tomorrow, is a red-letter day on the beauty calendar. Director of a noted cosmetician's New York hair salon . . . he comes to our city to introduce Hub women to the latest methods in hair health and beauty. And during his four-day stay at a local salon, he will consult with women on their personal problems of hair coloring, scalp reconditioning, permanent waving and hair styling.

He will introduce and feature the original hair innovations which won him raves in New York, Chicago, Washington and Palm Beach . . . such styles as his new Grecian coiffure, the braided psyche, the turban wave and other sculptured creations to harmonize with the elegance of the new fall and winter fashion season.

ONE OF HIS LATEST

If you've been wearing your hair on your neck and do not wish to cut it . . . let him arrange it in a soft bun placed midway up the back of the head and held in place by a braid . . . in the new "braided psyche" style that is the perfect silhouette for fall fashions.

With the new smooth hair styles, the hair itself assumes tremendous importance. It must be healthy and glowing with the sheen of good care. If your hair is dry and straw-like, it needs reconditioning. If it is a dull shade of brown, black, red, blonde or silver . . . try a baby rinse to highlight your crowning glory . . . a rinse that ranges from wheat flower, a lovely shade for ash blondes, through all the variations to tulip black, for the raven-haired type.

But first consult with Michel. Let him dramatize your head with a hair style that befits your personality . . . that is complement magnificence to the new and dramatic silhouettes . . . that really is worthy of sharing the spotlight with the new season's clarion clothes.

If you'd like to consult with hair-stylist Michel, at no obligation, we'll be glad to tell you the name of the salon featuring him if you phone the Beauty Dept., LIBERTY 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Balloon Crown Popular

By BETTINA BEDWELL

HATS with crowns that are all swollen up like a balloon are very high fashion, and you can see those women who always keep in the front row of the styles wearing them around this fall.

Millinery designers have got their revenge at last on those pin-point "dell"-crowned hats that dominated our hat fashions for six years or more.

Now the crown is likely to be the biggest part of the hat. Such crowns come under various names like the "beret," the "balloon" and so forth. John Fredericks has called his blown-up crown the "pot" crown and what it is like can be seen in Miss Dulin's sketch.

This is a hat to wear with a tailored suit or coat, and it is, as I said before, very high style. Made of dark blue felt, this model has a tiny cuff brim and a band of brown grosgrain ribbon for trimming. The face veil which softens the whole scene is brown.

Fashion

FOR THOSE informal winter nights at home when a book and the fireside are comfortable relaxations . . . a gel-up such as this model displays is smart attire even when unexpected callers ring the doorbell. The flared tunic coat is of green woolknit . . . worn over black woolknit slacks and dramatically accented with a bright red and yellow scarf. The ribbed yoke and waistband and deep pockets make it a nifty . . . and the red kid suede shoes with high wooden platforms are the last word in accessories—R. M.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

"DON'T LET ME INTERRUPT"—With few exceptions, the unexpected visitor is an interruption. Don't "drop in" on a friend and gaily tell her, "Don't mind me. Go right on with whatever you are doing!"

Planning Meals

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

THE WAR stimulated the idea of better nutrition for everyone, but now that the war is over it is still important to build healthy folks to carry on the heavy load of peacetime activities.

Most people need a better selection of foods, and that is one of the most important tasks of the homemaker in planning for the family. Feeling full is no proof that the correct foods have been eaten, so the wise homemaker plans meals to supply the diet with adequate minerals, vitamins, and proteins in addition to fat, starches, and sugar.

USING CANNED FOODS

Canned foods contribute their share in supplying these necessary elements. For instance, what do you expect from a serving of canned peas? Research has proved that 4-ounces (about 1/2 cup) of canned peas supplies from 10 to 20 per cent of the daily requirement of ascorbic acid (perhaps you know it better as Vitamin C); from 5 to 10 per cent of the daily requirement of each carotene (which is converted by the body into Vitamin A), thiamin, and niacin, and a trace of riboflavin. The first three named are part of the Vitamin B complex.

This is important, because we usually consider citrus fruits as the source of ascorbic acid; vegetables such as carrots and sweet potatoes for carotene, and meat for thiamin, niacin, and riboflavin. Yet one serving of canned peas furnishes some of each vitamin.

Without burdening you too much with the nutritive value of a long list of peas, we'd like to add that in addition to the above vitamins, canned peas contribute some minerals, protein, starch, and sugar to the diet. The amount of starch and sugar depends upon the variety and maturity of the peas.

The usual way of serving canned peas is buttered. It sounds simple, and it is—but many people do make such hard work of it and get such poor results that maybe a suggestion of a proved good way will help.

BUTTERED PEAS

Remember that canned peas are cooked and all they need is enough heat to make them the right temperature to eat. Remember, too, that the liquid in the canned peas contains flavor and good food value and ought to be used. Drain the liquid from the peas into a saucepan and boil it until there is about 1-3 the original amount of liquid. Add the peas and a liberal piece of butter, salt and pepper to suit the taste; heat the peas quickly and serve.

PEAS WITH MILK

One of the nicest ways to serve canned peas is the way women used to fix them years ago, and that is with unthickened milk, salt, pepper and butter. In other words, just milk is added to the peas and seasoned to taste and served hot in sauce dishes so that they can be eaten with a spoon. By so doing, the flavor of the peas has the opportunity to mix and blend with the milk and seasonings.

BAKED PEAS AND BACON

12 slices bacon 2 tsp. salt
2 No. 2 cans drained peas
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tsp. melted butter or margarine

Cut bacon in small pieces and saute until brown. Drain off all but 1 tbs. of the bacon fat, then add the drained peas, cream, salt and pepper to this bacon and fat. Place in a greased 1 1/2 quart casserole and top with the bread crumbs mixed with the melted butter. Bake in a preheated hot oven of 400 deg. F. for 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Bridal Shower Is Not Proper

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My brother, who is a soldier, is expected home soon. Two years ago he was married, and now as soon as he returns, he and his wife, who is from another state, are coming to visit us, and then they will begin housekeeping. During her visit with us, I would like to give a shower for her. Would it be proper to have a miscellaneous shower for her? J. F.

As a matter of fact, it wouldn't really be proper for you to have any kind of shower for your brother's wife. In the first place, it isn't considered proper for a member of either the man's or the girl's family to give her a shower. And in the second place (I judge that, since she is from another state, she will be a stranger to all or at least most of the guests whom you would invite to the shower) it is not considered good taste to ask people to whom the guest of honor is unknown, to come to a party where they are expected to bring gifts to her.

If your idea is (as it probably is) to assemble gifts for their new home, why not wait until they have moved into their new quarters and then have a housewarming party for them? By that time she will know your family's friends, they will be interested in the couple's establishing their home, and the party can be a welcoming-to-the-home . . . with the guests bringing gifts if they wish.

Elliott Tax Rebate OK'd

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (INS)—The House ways and means committee in a majority report today held that John Hartford was entitled to a reduction of $196,000 in his income tax return as a result of a $200,000 loan to Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt.

Majority members ruled the $196,000 was a loss to Hartford, president of the A&P grocery stores, and should be classified as a "bad debt."

The committee made public volumes of testimony on the loan inquiry.

The Republican minority, in a statement earlier, charged the committee "whitewashed" the transaction, and demanded that Elliott and other principals in the loan be called to testify at public hearings.

The committee report also held Elliott and his former wife should be taxed on the $200,000 Hartford loan.

Indians were first Scalp Specialists!

BUT I LIKE THOMAS' METHOD BETTER

Says
MICHAEL WHALEN
Star of Broadway Hit
"TEN LITTLE INDIANS"
NOW AT THE COPLEY THEATRE

While history shows that the Indians were definitely the first "scalp specialists" in America, it also shows that science has come a long way since those pioneer days. The modern "scalp specialists" have no flair for the Wild West—in fact they are expert in the art of bringing soothing, restful, relief to scalps that itch and burn because of local irritation (such as dandruff).

Thomas experts have treated more than a quarter-million persons during the past 20 years (and never lost a scalp)! Such popularity IS deserved... deserved because Thomas quickly removes those aggravating dandruff scales and leaves your scalp feeling fresh, clean, and healthy. Come in today for free consultation and advice and see for yourself exactly how this reliable, proved method works. You'll enjoy Thomas treatment!

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I was drafted in February, 1942, discharged in April of the same year by reason of C. D. D. Sec. II, Art. 615-360. Am I entitled to disability pension, mustering out pay, state bonus, discharge pin and GI Bill privileges?

A—It is for Veterans Administration to decide whether you are entitled to pension. You have the right to file claim. Eligible for other benefits with exception of GI Bill, having served less than 90 days, unless discharge was due to service-connected injury.

Q—As indications seem to point to release of fathers from service, do you think it wise to send my husband's Christmas box? He has just left for overseas. A. M., Boston.

A—No doubt there will be discharge regulations relative to married men within reasonable time, but in your case I would send the package.

Q—I read your column every day and know you have helped a great many of my friends. I have a boy friend in the Navy whom I have not heard from since last April. Can you tell me where to write to obtain his home address? He is from the South, and is now overseas. R. C., East Boston.

Try Bureau of Navy Personnel, Washington, D. C., giving Navy man's serial number and last known address. As a rule this information is given only to blood relations.

Q—I am now in the U. S. Maritime Service, but am not yet 18. The school I am attending, sponsored by the M. C., is going to close. Is it possible for me to enlist in the Army before my 18th birthday? T. C., Boston Harbor.

A—Not eligible for enlistment until 18 years old. Not necessary to go through draft board; you may enlist through recruiting office for regular Army.

Q—My husband was killed in action, and I received the pension and insurance payments. If I go to work, how much of this will be discontinued? B. C., Marshfield.

A—None. A widow of World War II veteran killed in action may draw her pension and insurance regardless of any other source of income.

Q—Are servicemen who have been in the Army two or more years eligible for discharge in the near future? and how about married men? D. S., Stoneham.

A—Men 35 years of age or over, who have had two or more years of active service, may request a discharge simply on the basis of his marital status.

Flowers at Sea For Navy Dead

The Navy invited the public today to share in the traditional honoring of its heroic dead by sending flowers to be strewn on the waters throughout the world on Navy Day, Sunday, Oct. 21.

Secretary of Navy Forrestal has designated 28 ports in the United States and territories and dependencies to which flowers may be sent for transport to sea for the ceremony.

It was requested that individuals send but one flower, preferably wild or home grown, involving the lowest possible expenditure.

Boston, Portland, Me., and New London, Ct., were designated by the Secretary as ports to which flowers should be sent in New England.

Flowers received prior to midnight, Oct. 20, will be placed aboard naval vessels, and, after appropriate all-faith ceremonies at the dock, the ships will proceed to sea to scatter the flowers on the water.

You Find a Dollar Seed In Tomorrow's Garden

By AUSTEN LAKE

DURING THE EARLY DAYS OF the war this writer was passing a bomb-barricaded children's hospital in Dover, England. The steep, pyramided sacks of earth which protected the facade had become a vertical garden of yellow daffodils, pink columbine and blue harebells, all growing through the porous sacking in a sweet profusion. It seemed a novel idea.

"No idea at all," explained Captain Bill Abel, my Canadian escort. "It's a kind of symbol. Last winter the hospital ran out of sand and it seemed easiest to fill the sacks in nearby public gardens. The bags protected the building throughout the moist winter. But when Spring came green shoots began to sprout through the burlap webbing and the barricades became an impromptu garden. It just happened."

Across the lane was the shell of an incinerated church. Its buttresses reeled like the stumps of amputated arms. Its roof was open to the sky. But the interior was cleared and the church was holding services "as usual." On its door there was a kind of text where the pastor had chalked, "Today's seed is in the soil of tomorrow."

The Seeding Roots Are Your Dollars

IT WAS symbolic. For irrepressible nature had demonstrated to war-harried humanity that its seedling roots, cultivated in a tranquil past, had survived through adversity to bloom again. The immutable orbit of life was continuing on both sides of the hospital walls. Outside man was struggling for survival. Inside new-born babes were mewling on the threshold of life. It was a parable of eternal existence.

AND WHAT HAS THIS TO DO with Boston's United War Fund which begins its 17-day drive for a much needed $7,750,000? The answer should be obvious!

Today's seed is in the soil of tomorrow! As we cultivate now, so shall our garden grow! For the end of the war was not the terminal point of human hope. What shall tomorrow's harvest be?

The seedling roots are your fund dollars. The head gardener is the United War Fund, and of Greater Boston daddies and two deputy gardeners, both members of the fund family, who bear the names of (1) Greater Boston Community and (2) National Services. Each cultivates an allotted plot of social soil wherein to sow your fund dollars, of which Paper UWF takes less than 6 per cent for administrative needs and some 30,000 citizens volunteer their collection services for nothing.

For example, the Community Fund spreads $5,575,000 over 288 health and welfare centers, including care and treatment of the needy in 30 hospitals and dispensaries; nursing and nutrition in 22 agencies; child care in 25 bureaus; development and character guidance in more than 100 Youth Services; help for the aged and socially handicapped in 12 centers. There is much more.

Would you call that a garden of tomorrow and your fund dollars the seed of today?

Well then, 1,302,600 of your seed go to the USO to provide normal, sound outlets for emotions and play instincts for any mother's footloose soldier or sailor son who has some idle hours and needs somewhere besides the chump-traps, mischief marts and tucker-pockets of our ugly, unloved growth in any city. For, as any AEFer knows, a soldier's fun is where he finds it and the USO has plenty of competition.

Another chunk of the fund, $872,420, goes to our overseas soldiers and foreign relief. It helps fill the abyss of boredom among our occupation troops, where little things are magnified to immensities and the moisture of our generosity helps to keep their hearts and minds green for the day when they come home. That is also a garden of tomorrow.

Lastly but not leastly your cash granules go to the Tiny Time, Little Battles and Puffy Forties of Britain, China, Holland, Norway, Poland, Greece, Czechoslovakia, etc. For our new world is broad-gauge relationship and the foreign children of today are our adult neighbors of tomorrow to whom America gleams as a candlelight of virtue in a dark and sordid world. If we lose the children we lose the war!

YOU MIGHT LIKE TO KNOW that the audit of last year's War Fund harvest is already in the barns—1,418,305 days of skilled medical care, 721,898 clinical treatments and examinations, 297,335 visits from community nurses, aid to 4215 physically handicapped people, 99,605 days of care for the aged, supervision of 248,184 children in Youth Organizations and 23,835 more in Settlement Houses, 375,367 days of care in foster homes, and 21,894 families serviced according to multiple needs.

That is the fruit of last year's seed in the garden of today. The crop is what we like to call democracy, about which we sometimes talk much but do little. Translated into human produce it means lives saved, citizens salvaged, morale solidarity and spiritual economy. Like the yellow daffodils, pink columbine and blue harebells of Dover, humanity's dry roots lie to blossom again.

For there is a human law of compensation in all matters. It is one of life's quid-pro-quos that there is a bill for everything—not merely rent, clothing and food, but security and common opportunity. We, as individual Bostonians, can no more be "isolationists" from the rest of our home neighbors than we can, as a nation, remain aloof from the neighborhood family of the world. Our community is the basic unit of mankind.

If we learn the lesson of neighborhood responsibility and its relation to the common, national brotherhood, the war will not have been fought in vain. If we don't, then the mutilated version of democracy isn't worth saving—it won't be democratic freedom, but democratic self-interest. The two principles are as far apart as Spitzbergen and Little America! Send in your seed! Let us cultivate our garden that today's undernourished roots may grow into straight, tall stalks. The bargain is all ours.

$300,000 Homer Sets Up Huge Pool for Players

Hank Greenberg's $300,000 home run, welcomed with itching palms by both the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs, has set the stage for a gold-plated World Series. Presence of the Bengals and Bruins, two of the game's top attractions in two of the nation's best baseball towns, assures a player pool of near-record proportions, according to the Associated Press.

The players could split approximately $500,000 on a 60-40 basis which would mean a generous slice of three hundred grand to the victors. A Washington pennant would have made a deep gouge in the player melon because of the limited seating capacity of Griffith Stadium.

Greenberg's lusty clout into the left field stands at Sportsman's Park in the ninth inning of yesterday's pennant ball game climaxed several weeks of anxious waiting by Tiger patrons who had seen their favorites accused of "backing in" to the flag.

Detroit hadn't been too sure about sweeping the final pair from the Browns and had made tentative arrangements to hold out Hal Newhouse for a playoff game today that never will be played.

Washington, which finished its season a week ago, had been hoping for a miracle double victory by the defending champion Brownies. When Virgil Trucks weakened in the sixth, Steve O'Neill replaced the recently discharged sailor with his No. 1 boy, Newhouse. That was a decision to make for if it had failed, Steve would have had to string along with a second line pitcher in the money game with the Senators. It didn't fail and Newhouse came away with his 25th victory, 6-3, and the flag.

The championship came as a welcome relief to the Detroit club that had been out in front since June 10 but never far enough to discourage opposition.

George Stinewick of the Yanks surprisingly won the American batting title yesterday with three hits in New York's 12-2 romp over Boston, advancing to .309, one point ahead of Chicago's Tony Cuccinello who was rained out of a final doubleheader with Cleveland. The Yanks finished fourth, lowest since 1925, and worst in the Joe McCarthy regime.

Chief interest in the National League's final day was the hitting duel between Phil Cavarretta of Chicago and Tommy Holmes of Boston, won by the Cubs' first sacker, 353 to 352. Two safe blows in a "mean nothing" 5-3 decision over Pittsburgh saved the day for Cavarretta.

Holmes collected four hits although his club was shut out, 1-0, by rookie Don Fisher of the Giants 13-inning first game. But the Braves' left fielder was horsecollared in the second contest, a 2-2 tie called at the end of seven frames because of darkness. Nap Reyes' homer copped the opening.

Ed Stanky set a new league record by drawing his 148th base on balls as Hal Gregg hung up his 18th decision, a 4-1 Brooklyn triumph over the Phillies.

The Dodgers took third money in the league, behind the abdicating champion Cardinals and Pittsburgh rallied to take fourth. Mel Ott's Giants lacked the pitching to make a run of it and settled for fifth, followed by the Braves, Reds and Phillies who finished 52 games to the rear of the Cubs.

CAN BE CURED

with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England, about one out of five have a "ferm" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More body ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Loss $850,000 In Race Date Cut

State Racing Commission Chairman Louis Hoffman admitted today the State lost $850,000 in tax revenue because of the elimination of 88 days of greyhound racing.

Hoffman's statement came before a joint session of the legislative body and means committee investigating horse and dog racing and revenue therefrom.

"Although there is no gauge to estimate the effects, it is the opinion of both the governor and I," Hoffman said, "that the cut in date was more beneficial than detrimental to the Commonwealth, the state lost revenue but the people would have lost more in betting if the dates had not been cut."
